MEMORANDUM FOR: Director, Foreign Broadcast Information Service

THROUGH: Chief, Operations Group, FBIS

FROM: [REDACTED]
Acting Chief, FBIS/Okinawa Bureau

SUBJECT: Monthly Report - Okinawa Bureau - February 1985

I. GENERAL

Bureau Chief [REDACTED] departed Okinawa 13 February on early PCS so [REDACTED] could attend a Sloan School of Management course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology from late February to May. [REDACTED] had a one-day TDY at the Tokyo Embassy and in FBIS Headquarters en route. A large farewell reception to say goodbye to key U.S. military and consular officers as well as Japanese contacts was hosted by the [REDACTED] on 7 February at the Skoshi KOOM Club. FBIS personnel said sayonara at a 10 February cocktail party hosted by the deputy bureau chief and his wife, as well as at dinners hosted by the bureau Chinese staff.

The 25 January to 5 February Philippines radio reception survey at Clark Air Force Base and Baguio by staff Regional Cruiser [REDACTED] demonstrated convincingly that Clark offers the best emergency medium-wave reception of sites surveyed by FBIS thus far, for at least the Metro Manila area and some northern/central regionals. A planned followup professional-equipment reception survey from Ishigaki Island in the southern Ryukyus was scratched on 25 February at Headquarters' request.

The deputy chief completed a Russian monitor recruiting TDY to Sydney, Canberra, and Melbourne, Australia, on 6 February, during which 23 of 25 possible candidates were tested and interviewed for expected bureau vacancies later this year. The first short list retains ten candidates. Applicants for this trip were of great variety--from ex-Soviet Army tank corp lieutenant, former Soviet Navy electronics officers and graduates of Soviet universities and art institutes to professional musicians and English teachers. It was evident that many of the new applicants were Jewish emigres allowed to leave the USSR during the high-immigration years in the late 70's and early 80's.

II. OPERATIONS

A. Editorial/Monitorial

1. A now rare direct monitoring and processing of Vladivostok radio on 6 February enabled the bureau Russian team to text a 34-minute version of an RSFSR Supreme Soviet election speech by KGB Chairman Chebrikov. The team also took part in the USSR leadership "death watch" stimulated by repeated press agency reports that General Secretary Chernenko was gravely ill.

2. NHK television reporting on the controversial return to Seoul of opposition leader Kim Tae-chung, and treatment of him and accompanying Americans by ROK security personnel at the airport, led to Seoul Bureau requesting direct delivery of the OW videotape. To ensure safe delivery, the tape was sent through the diplomatic pouch on 14 February.

3. Beijing Radio's international beams to Australia and New Zealand were given special coverage at AG request because of the U.S.-New Zealand-Australia rift over the issue of nuclear-equipped U.S. Navy ships visiting New Zealand ports. This beam, normally only checked periodically to confirm repeat patterns, did produce a few topical reports not carried on other PRC sources. The coverage will extend to mid-March.]

B. Coverage

Okinawa coverage of Moscow TV via ROSET was shifted completely to the Orbita-1 in early February, giving the bureau a nominal 8-hour time advantage over London/BBC for Moscow's First program. The ending of Quezon City satellite TV transmissions on 31 January, for failure to pay Palapa transponder costs, makes this possible.

C. Cruising

1. The extension of China's satellite TV transmissions on the experimental 125E STW-1 was confirmed by cruising observations in late February. PRC television transmissions now fade in as early as 0935 GMT, instead of 1100 as in the past, with new programs consisting mainly of educational material thus far, although a second, late newscast at about 1355 GMT was confirmed in late February and early March. The availability of only one ROSET dish continues to hinder schedule confirmations, particularly during local peak evening hours. hint

2. A complete update of Okinawa satellite listings, done with a new Lotus 1-2-3 application program devised by cruiser Stiglicz, was forwarded to MOD on 25 February. The Lotus program replicates the MOD-controlled format in Headquarters and permits easier file maintenance at the bureau.

3. ROSET cruising established that Indonesia's aging 77E Palapa A-2 now has only one active transponder signal carrying telephone, commercial radio-teletype and TDM signals--including Philippines traffic still allowed despite the ending of TV transmissions.

4. MOD staff cruiser-trainee [] arrived on 16 February to begin a three month training program under []

D. Lateral Services

1. The first of two packages of all bureau-filed publishable items on Japan was pouched to U.S. Embassy Tokyo political officer John Reagan, per an arrangement by outbound Chief [] during his 14 February TDY. Reagan wished to review the complete file to help decide on a possible expansion of Embassy wirefiling receipts, and will advise the bureau when the last sample through 8 March has been studied.

2. A second set of Japanese-language recordings of news-type material was airmailed to the BBC for one of its "official consumers" following a second request. The first was met in December.

3. A wire request from the 500th MI Group at Camp Zama for a Moscow videotape showing Sakhalin offshore oil prospecting ships had to be turned down because the tape already had been requested by Headquarters consumers. The 500th was referred to FBIS/LRB.

III. ADMINISTRATION/LOGISTICS

1. The bureau's new computer application of Lotus 1-2-3 for the budget spreadsheet and FSR passed its operational tests satisfactorily in late February, and was pouched to D/FBIS with a recommendation for a Special Achievement Award to its developer, after evaluation by Ops Group and SDS. FBIS B&F was pouched copies of the new computer SOC worksheets. Debugging and further testing continued on another Lotus program application that calculates and prints the TCN payroll, and it will be pouched shortly for Headquarters' information and possible application.

2. Contracting authority was requested on 20 February for replacement of all poles on two of the seven bureau rhombic antennas. Seven local bidders submitted project bids for the opening on 19 February, the lowest bid equating to about $19,250. A large portion of the poles themselves arrived by Flying Tiger lines cargo 747 on 20 February, and were delivered to the bureau's storage area across the road in a major logistical operation during the night of 20-21 February. Photos and interesting tag samples are provided in a Logs attachment for Headquarters only.

3. An extensive project to divide/isolate water supply pipelines serving FBIS duplex houses was begun; the separation will permit repairs and service to one side of duplexes without affecting the other, through separate shutoff valves. New fuel pumps were installed at Bolo Point Operations and Kadena Motor Pool areas.
